Business at Hand

Learman explained why the meeting was called. A letter was submitted in regards to having a Tattoo Parlor in town and a request was made to have the Tattoo Ordinance reviewed and updated. The members discussed how the current ordinance is written and ideas on how to update it to current times. Stating certain parts of the ordinance, like the distance from residential, signage and inputting new language (Body Art etc.) needed to be updated.

Public Comments

Chuck Kloka stated that Tattoo's have changed over the years. All ages are getting body art and it is not associated with the same image as in the past. He is looking to bring new businesses to town other than another gift shop or restaurant.

Kevin Kloka stated he understands why the old ordinance had 600 ft distance from residential, but feels tattoo parlors have come a long way and are not seen as a problem anymore.

Robert Scott introduced himself as the gentleman who wishes to open a Tattoo Parlor in town. He invited members to visit his location where he wishes to have his business.
